

Every student learns fast in a good academy. Most students waste their time in a bad academy.

Find the Best Academy

---

If you're a private student and have decided a traditional academy is the best way to study English try hard to find a good one. It will mean the difference between learning and wasting your money. Of course, if you need in-company lessons the best option is our school, English for Business!

- Check the premises at academies. Classrooms should be comfortable and have all necessary learning tools.
- Make sure the school hires trainers with a teaching degree rather than speakers who don't have proper qualifications.
- Try to pay monthly instead of in one chunk so you can leave if you are not satisfied.

- If you are offered lessons in a group go for a small class. There is no exact rule to determine when a class is too large but the bigger the group the less time to speak.
- An English school is sometimes not only about English classes so find out if they have a social programme, such as group excursions, theatre in English etc.
- Ask to attend a trial lesson before you enrol. Most academies will accept and you'll be able to see whether lessons meet your needs.
- Check whether they have online exercises or the possibility to attend lessons remotely. It's always a plus if you are ill, travel a lot or if there's another pandemic.

Andrew's advice? The better the academy the faster you'll learn.

Want to learn more about improving your business English? Download Speak and Write Better Business English from Amazon.

Want to study business English at your company? Call us on +34 934 230 229 or contact us on www.englishforbusiness.es.